PAULY'S PERSPECTIVE

A Message from Our President Deborah Pauly, J.D.

Expansion Leads to Projection into the Broader Orange County Community

It has been a very exciting and fast-paced month since our last newsletter. First, thank you to Robin Itzler for stepping up to pull together our May newsletter on very short notice. You'll note a lot of changes in style and formatting. Jill McCauley, who has served us very well as the editor-in-chief during the crucial launch of CPOC, is still on board as copy editor. When the Conservative Chronicle hits your email box, please, forward it to like-minded friends when you are inviting them to join us.

Speaking of inviting people to join, we continue to add members every day. We're now at 173 members in just under four months of active recruitment. We're close to hitting our goal of 200 members by June. With your help, we'll add those last 27 members to our rolls by the end of May. (Yea....but then we'll just set a new goal.)

Our April meeting was on fire with over 100 in attendance. We addressed Election Integrity concerns head-on under the leadership of our Election Integrity Committee chairman James Peters. See the meeting update on page 5.

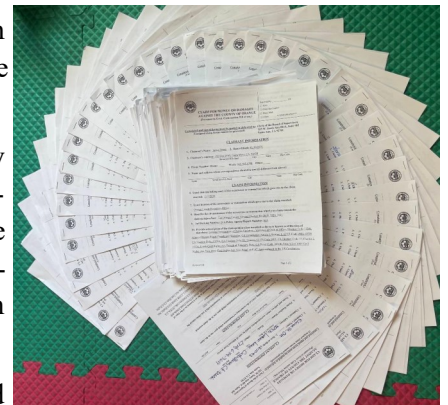

Following up to that was the exciting first step in executing the plan presented by James and his team. Two dozen activists, most of whom are CPOC members, attended the Orange County Board of Supervisor's meeting on Tuesday, April 26 to serve notice of intent to file a claim against their performance surety bond with Zurich - Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland. Be sure to read the after action report on page 13 and visit the website to view video reports under The Cal Report.

The next step will be Tuesday, May 3 when the EIC team delivers 120 completed claim forms for damages incurred due to the lack of election integrity and transparency surrounding November 3, 2020 voting and ballot tallying.

CPOC continued projecting our presence into the broader Orange County community by participating in the Eagle Forum California 21st Annual State Conference on Saturday, April 30 at Spirit and Truth Worship Center. Membership Director Michele Markel and I took shifts manning our CPOC booth. There were a lot of great grassroots activists and candidates, networking, making new friends and catching up with old friends.

March with CPOC in May!

May will be the month of parades, starting with the City of Orange's revived May Parade on Saturday, May 7. CPOC will be all decked out in red, white and blue. We are looking for patriots to march with us! We will muster at 8:30 a.m. at Palm and Maple. It's a short route of only 1 1/2 miles through downtown Orange. Put on your best patriotic gear, grab an American flag or a Gadsden Flag and let's make a showing. Contact our Public Relations Director Laura Thomas at laura@laurathomas.com for details.

Continues on next page

May's general membership meeting is an all-American Pre-Primary Candidates PARADE AT THE PODIUM on the regular third Thursday, May 19 at our usual location in the ballroom of the Santa Ana Elks Lodge. Details are on pages 1 and 17. It will be so much fun with a county fair atmosphere. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. for one-on-one interactions with the candidates.

Every Orange County voter is invited to attend this candidate mixer in a Trade Show environment. Think All-American food fare at rock bottom prices. We want this to be affordable to everyone.

Candidates for federal, state and county-level office are invited to participate. If you know a candidate for federal, state or county office, let them know they should sign up to attend. Details are on our website: ConservativePatriotsofOC.org or contact Finance Director Carol Bowen at c.bowen@earthlink.net with any questions.

Until we meet again later this month, may God keep you safe and secure in the palm of His mighty hand.

PSALM 20

May the LORD answer you in the day of trouble.
May the name of the God of Jacob defend you.
May He send you help from the sanctuary,
And strengthen you out of Zion.
May He grant you according to your heart's desire
And fulfill all your purpose.

Heavenly Father,

We ask that those who rule over us in our city, state and country would humbly seek wisdom and guidance from You, the Almighty God. Sadly, many have turned away from You, and therefore there is much trouble in our land. Please help and strengthen those individuals whose heart's desire is to honor You in their plans and actions against evil. May You grant success to our Election Integrity committee as they lead the fight against corruption in the voting process here in Orange County.

Thank You for blessing each of us in many ways,

In Jesus' name,

Amen

April 21 Meeting

"Thank you to all who made the April 21 CPOC meeting a tremendous success. Your spirit was inspiring."

We had 100+ people in attendance, met expenses, enjoyed wonderful food and fellowship, and added new members to our rolls. We heard from four terrific candidates and we are lead on a deep dive into the Election Integrity irregularities in Orange County by CPOC's EIC Chairman James Peters, who also sponsored part of our meeting.

I am sorry if you missed the meeting because the room was on fire. We dealt openly, directly and boldly in truth, which is the only way we will ever solve the issues we collectively face.

Mr. Peters presented our plan of action for addressing election integrity issues in The OC. We will share more over the next couple of days.

It is an honor to work with so many committed patriots who love our country. Please tell your friends, neighbors and family about CPOC. They can learn more about our growing organization at: ConservativePatriotsofOC.org."

2022 GOP Convention Speech Harnesses Anti-Democrat Energy, But Fundamentally Still Remains Out of Touch With Californians

By Marc Ang (proud CPOC charter member)
Published on Orange County Breeze – April 26, 2022

While the national environment of high gas prices and inflation, along with Joe Biden's other failures have given the national Republican Party a boost in energy, the CA GOP convention stood in stark contrast to other states. This was encompassed in Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy's 45-minute Saturday night speech, in what he chose to highlight and what he chose to omit.

shoutout. "President Trump helped build the strongest economy in our nation."

When CBS asked me about my thoughts on his comments and how that would affect his aspirations for speakers, I chalked it up to DC gossip, but the bigger picture point is Kevin McCarthy is not loved by the grassroots and is seen as out of touch and a typical politician. So that piece of news did not surprise me, being in line with his current brand. McCarthy is too Washington DC. And like the state GOP which has been modeled after his likeness, it continues to miss opportunities left and right, literally.

If you put me in Florida, I would be a proud registered Republican. In California, the failure of the state party gives me some pause to that registration. A lot of pause. In fact, one of the key moments was McCarthy's admission that California stood far behind its East Coast sunny counterpart, where many have emigrated to, as he lamented California Republicans not getting enough attention for technicalities like winning back 4 seats in 2020.

McCarthy's "bragging rights" moments glossed over important realities. Seven seats were lost in 2018 and those four were claw backs. Meanwhile, all four seats were won by 2 percent or under in 2020, signifying California's overall bluing trend that remains unchanged. No mention of last year's 24 point recall lost was made.

In a few far and between moments, McCarthy brought up some applaud-worthy points. These included a few shoutouts to the terrible economic environment the national and state Democrats have fostered with their policies, while tying it into California's hypocritical "environmentally conscious" policies. "It's not just Joe Biden. It's our own governor. He decreased production in California. Yes, oil and gas by 20%. That's 87,000 barrels a day. He replaced it with 50,000 barrels from each of California hardworking taxpayers' money and is giving it to poor spending. If you care about the environment like the California Republican Party does, American natural gas is 41% cleaner than Russia natural gas."

But the overall speech was canned and sounded overly rehearsed especially in light of his recently surfaced comments about the former President who he made a point to do some damage control tonight with a

McCarthy did get to mentioning some on-the-ground issues but only as talking points without much-needed depth. "Inflation [needs] to stop. [People] want gas they can afford. They want to be involved in their kids' education. They want the streets to be safe no matter where it is in the city." That's as far as he went. I would have loved to hear a shot at the Sacramento Democrat legislature shooting down the gas tax holiday in their "let them eat cake" moment but instead McCarthy read out resumes of the 4 Republicans who won last cycle in Congress. Also missing were their current legislative accomplishments. Even as a minority party, I want to hear common sense solutions or at least a record of attempts to force Democrats' hands in Washington to reveal that their focus is not what's best for the people.

McCarthy opened up his speech by honoring the person who introduced him, state GOP chair Jessica Patterson. "It was the Republican Party of California, not the Democratic Party that elected the first millennial Latina to run." These were his exact words and made me cringe. As if her age and race make her qualified. Meanwhile, on the ground, everyday Californians are not crazy about Patterson's leadership as many issues that affect the people and inspire them are glossed over for never ending calls to fundraise.

These issues include conservative ballot measures like Prop 16 in 2020, where state voters turned down affirmative action (also known as race baiting or race-based quotas in public sector schools and hiring), by 14 points, the Republican leader was acting just like the left on feeling the need to check every intersectional box in his speech. Republicans instead have an opportunity to come ahead in the issue of race, by pushing meritocracy, which is being trampled on in hiring, college admissions and now even admission to prestigious high schools, previously merit based.

The biggest complaint about the GOP, which has a lot of merit, is they're stuck in the 1990s. As far as California goes, we have had the race thing settled, or at least harmonious, for decades. Yet, as a minority-majority state in 2022, McCarthy sounded like he was cheerleading for battles won even before that. In this post-racial world, especially in California, it highlighted how out of touch the Republicans are, as he and the convention kept trumpeting the likes of Young Kim or Mike Garcia, not on the merits of their work but because they're checking off intersectional boxes. It came off like a desperate affirmation that "we are not racist, I swear! Let's count the ways we are not".

Where McCarthy was able to balance it out was when he was speaking about Emmanuel, a German immigrant's painting of America's founding fathers in a rowboat, where he joked that it was historically inaccurate, and the river looked more like the Rhine. "He knew America was more than a country. America was an idea. And he wanted to share that idea with his country of Germany. He wanted them to have a revolution based upon the freedoms of what America was created around." Even then, with this powerful story, he had to check off the fact that there was a black man and a Native American on that boat. In real life, I do not introduce my friends to others by their race and don't appreciate being called "Hi, this is Marc, my Asian friend". I prefer not to cringe.

It's like McCarthy couldn't help himself. And isn't that what the left capitalizes on, and where they trip themselves up? If you're constantly bringing up race, isn't that kinda racist itself? Let's be better than this, GOP. Let's strike a real contrast.

Finally, being an "I'm not the other guy" is good enough to win for Republicans in a cycle but reversing long term trends is the real task conservatives need to fight.

I didn't see fresh ideas or a truly inspiring message from the Republican leader in California. It stands in stark contrast with Florida, where DeSantis really is just crushing it like a boss, putting himself in the forefront on issues from Critical Race Theory in schools to pro-life causes.

While Florida is just as multicultural as California, I don't hear DeSantis focused on skin pigmentations and body parts in his speeches and actions. Nor do I get the sense that DeSantis is trying to create a club of elites, as we have in California. McCarthy, focus on what you guys are there to do: a job, to further our values. It seems that the California GOP is stuck on glory displays over true productivity of explaining why conservative ideas work. Instead, they've functionally become an elitist clique or club with access that is not available to the everyday person. And that is why they will continue to lose at the ballot box, until the reservoir of opportunity is tapped into, that is the common everyday man and woman in California.

ALERT –*California poised to allow non-citizens to become police officers.*Tell your legislators NO!

Just when you think it couldn't get any worse with California politicians who don't care about citizenship, the legislature wants to make it worse. SB 960 would allow non-citizens to become police officers.

Tell your legislators to reject this proposal!

Current state law requires that peace officers must be "a citizen of the United States or a permanent resident who is eligible for and has applied for citizenship" and "no person shall be appointed as a member of the California Highway Patrol who is not a citizen of the United States." SB 960 would repeal these provisions.

In fact, nothing in the bill bars illegal immigrants from becoming police officers although federal law would require non-citizens to have work authorization. This legislation would, however, not be limited to green card holders. For instance, DACA recipients have work permits.

As the Riverside County Sheriff's Office told the state Senate:

"Becoming a United States citizen subjects the applicant to a thorough criminal background check conducted by the United States government. This ensures our government does not permit a violent felon, serious criminal offender, sexual predator, or someone with terrorist ties or propensities to live and work among our citizenries.... If this bill becomes law, our background investigators would not have the legal authority or investigative tools necessary to communicate with a hostile foreign nation over a non-citizen applicant's criminal or potential terrorist background.... We cannot expect a non-citizen to uphold the principles and ideologies of our Constitution if they themselves have not pledged allegiance to our country."

Tell your state Senator and Assemblymember to reject SB 960, a dangerous bill that would allow non-citizens to become police officers.

PERCEPTION IS REALITY IN THE MIND OF THE PERCEIVER!

A recent YOUNGOV poll found that the people's responses greatly differed from reality.

Question	Average Answer	Actual
What percentage of the country is black?	41%	14%
What percentage is "Latino"?	39%	19%
What % families make over $500,000 a year?	26%	1%
What % families make over $250,000 a year?		7%
What percent of American's are vegetarians?	30%	5%
What percent of American's live in NY city?	30%	3%
What % of American's are 'transgender'?	22%	1%
What % of your fellow citizens are Gay?	30%	3%

Why do people have such inaccurate thoughts on these counts? THE MEDIA! The media runs race, gender, and wealth stories constantly. The result: Many are being brainwashed by the national left media. Hitler's propaganda minister Joseph Goebbels would be proud if he had had half this success.

Disney just went full on "gender." Now they no longer welcome guests with the traditional "Welcome ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls." Why? Because a minute 1% of the U.S. population dictates to the other 99%. Incredibly, Corporate America falls for it.

Less than 20% of American's use "Twitter." Yet, Twitter controls 80% of public opinion. (Of course, that could change since Elon Musk has bought the company and will take it private.)

The next time you are thinking that Americans have changed, and not in a good way, remember it's fake. It's all a lie. Most people think just like you do. The mainstream media continues its efforts to brainwash Americans with its constant broadcasting of "LIES"!

This is one reason the sub-species are running the Country! CPOC along with other conservative groups are in the frontlines to stop this insanity.

Dear CPOC family,

Thank you for the texts, emails and beautiful cards that you have sent to me during this very difficult time. You have honored Robert, your love has comforted me and for that I thank you very much.

Robert would be so proud of what we are doing. I know he would be supporting us.

God bless you. Love,

Martha Ming

DO YOU REMEMBER VE DAY?

MAY 8, 1945

By Betts Rivét, Americanism

May 8 marks the formal acceptance by the allies of World War II of Nazi Germany's unconditional surrender. That day in 1945 was known as Victory in Europe Day, generally known as V-E Day or VE Day. It marked the end of World War II in Europe.

Actually, the Allied Forces were informed that Adolf Hitler committed suicide on April 30, 1945. His successor, Karl Dönitz, was unwilling to continue the war, therefore, he authorized Germany's surrender. The act of military surrender was signed in Berlin, Germany, on May 8, 1945. The instrument of surrender was signed by supreme German military commander Wilhelm Keitel as well as Allied representatives.

Upon the defeat of Germany, celebrations erupted throughout the world especially in the United Kingdom. More than one million people celebrated in the streets unafraid now of any air raids. King George VI and Queen Elizabeth along with Winston Churchill appeared on the balcony of Buckingham Palace. Princess Elizabeth (the future Queen Elizabeth II) and her sister Princess Margaret were allowed to wander incognito among the crowds as the festivities took place.

In the United States, VE Day happened on President Harry Truman's 61st birthday. He dedicated the victory to the memory of his predecessor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, who died of a cerebral hemorrhage less than a month earlier. Truman said that his only wish was that Roosevelt had lived to witness the Victory in Europe Day.

I write this because I want you to think positively regarding the possibility of throughout the world we will be able to celebrate VU Day (Victory in Ukraine Day). As in WW II evil must not prevail.

PROTECTING OUR VOTES ... Change is Coming

As reported in The Epoch Times, Wisconsin's Walworth County has become the first local government in the state to ban the acceptance of private monies or grants for use in the administration of elections.

Approval of the measure came after 16 states enacted legislation to ban or regulate the acceptance and use of private funds by public election officials. Good-government advocates have been incensed that a Mark Zuckerberg-funded activist group, the left-wing Center for Technology and Civic Life (CTCL), flooded election offices in Democratic Party strongholds with millions of dollars in an apparent effort to drive up voter turnout for that party in 2020.

Forget the Red Wave. We Need a MAGA Tsunami!

By Robin Itzler (proud CPOC member)

Published on American Thinker—April 19, 2022

A day doesn't go by without right-leaning websites, newspapers, and commentators becoming giddy about taking back Congress in the midterms. In their view, it's just a question of how big the Red Wave will be. They cite increased Republican registrations in purple or blue cities and states. They hype how many traditional Democrat constituencies such as Hispanics and Blacks are switching to Republican.

But what is the purpose of taking back Congress if we have most of the same spineless leadership as before? In 2017–2018, President Trump was in the White House, and we had both houses of Congress. Shouldn't the results have been much better? Will things vastly improve if a 2023 or 2025 Republican Congress is sworn in and Rep. Kevin "which way the wind is blowing" McCarthy is House speaker? Or if Sen. Mitch "Donate to Liz Cheney's campaign" McConnell remains Senate leader? Sure, they decide the agenda and which bills reach the floor, but McCarthy and McConnell are the same Establishment Republicans who have always given MAGAs heartburn.

A walk down memory lane

McConnell was probably watching MSNBC and didn't know that, on January 6, 2021, President Donald Trump urged his followers at the D.C. rally to go to the U.S. Capitol and "peacefully and patriotically make your voices heard." Trump repeatedly tweeted the same message even as some Capitol Police officers held doors open for MAGAs to enter the building.

Yet days after the mêlée and without any proof, McConnell went onto the Senate floor and accused President Trump of being "practically and morally responsible" for January 6 events at the U.S. Capitol. He called Trump's actions a "disgraceful — disgraceful — dereliction of duty."

Well, I call many of McConnell's actions as Senate leader disgraceful — disgraceful — dereliction of duty.

Following January 6's events, GOP leader Kevin

McCarthy called on President Trump to "accept his share of responsibility" for what happened.

Well, I call on McCarthy to accept his share of responsibility as House leader for, among other things, his pathetic initial support of Rep. Liz Cheney to remain chair of the House Republican Conference. His giving California rep. David Valadao a prime committee assignment just days after Valadao voted to impeach President Trump. His not removing Reps. Liz Cheney and Adam Kinzinger from the GOP Caucus when they accepted an appointment to Nancy Pelosi's January 6 circus committee.

As President Trump said on March 26 during his "Save America" rally in Commerce, Georgia:

Before we can defeat the Democrats, socialists, and communists, which is exactly what we're running against at the ballot boxes in the fall, we first have to defeat the RINOs, sellouts, and the losers in the primaries this spring.

Midterms must be a MAGA Tsunami

Without a MAGA Tsunami in November, we will continually repeat the cycle of MAGAs enthusiastically running in primaries but being pushed out by Establishment Republicans. Then, in the general election, state and county GOPs claim that the RINO candidate is still better than the Democrat. Really? Is "Republican" Mitt Romney better than a Democrat?

Let's be honest: many Establishment Republicans prefer candidates who can swim in the D.C. swamp. MAGAs won't even dip their toe in the swamp!

Deborah Pauly, president of Conservative Patriots of Orange County (California), a growing and influential non-partisan organization that welcomes members across the political spectrum, said:

CPOC President
Deborah Pauly is quoted in this article!

Continues on next page

We need to reframe the election conversation and stop buying the establishment narrative, which is that we have to vote for these "liberal Republicans," or we will lose the seat to the Democrats. A "liberal Republican" is an oxymoron and only a moron would keep voting for that. This is particularly true in California where we have been conditioned to accept an extremely milquetoast version of the conservative Republican as the best we can hope to achieve.

The GOP belongs to MAGAs

During his April 2 "Save America" rally in Washington Township, Michigan, President Trump said:

The choice this November is very simple, if you want high crime, high prices, high taxes, high corruption, and high incompetence, vote for the radical Democrats. If you want a country that is strong, sovereign, safe, and secure, you must vote for America First Republicans.

If Republicans are poised to take back the House in a "yuge" Red Wave, wouldn't it be better to do it without Never Trump/RINO candidates, even if we lose a few seats? From Young Kim and David Valadao in California to Liz Cheney in Wyoming to Nancy Mace in South Carolina, let's finally show those RINOs that this is the "America First" MAGA Party!

That message might be getting out even in very blue California. Recently, the California Republican Assembly (CRA), founded in 1935, held its Orange and San Diego Counties' convention to vote on endorsements. In the new congressional 40th District, CRA endorsed "America First" MAGA candidate Greg Rath over Never-Trump incumbent Young Kim.

That's a "yuge" endorsement! MAGA Greg Rath over NeverTrump Young Kim!

As we enter primary season, MAGAs must not be afraid of supporting "America First" MAGA candidates, even if state and county GOPs are fawning over establishment candidates. As Pauly pointed out:

If the Red Wave nationally is as predicted, this is the best time for true conservatives to take a stand here in California and stop adding to the swamp in Washington D.C.

Let's make this a MAGA Tsunami!

IN ACTION

An After Action report by CPOC President Deborah Pauly

CONSERVATIVE PATRIOTS OF ORANGE COUNTY served the Orange County Board of Supervisors with Notice of our intent to file a claim against their insurance bond at their regularly scheduled meeting today.

About two dozen activists were in attendance in the morning session, several of whom spoke to Agenda Item #46. Item #46 was a contract to hire newly retired Registrar of Voters Neal Kelly as a consultant to the new Registrar of Voters. As you might recall, Mr. Kelly just “retired” from that position after 123 affidavits were filed with the Orange County Sheriff concerning election irregularities. Kelly’s last day with the county was mid-March.

Why does Kelly need to provide consulting services to the new Registrar who is presumably qualified for the job? This is how the game works. Retire, collect your pension, be hired as a consultant, and collect your paycheck. Kelly’s contract was approved on a 3-1 vote to immediately begin providing consulting serves for the new Registrar.

The vote would have been 4-0 had CPOC not caught that on the listed agenda items and submitted cards to speak in opposition to the contract.

Following the Board’s lunch break and closed session on litigation and employee negotiations, more than a dozen remaining activists spoke to our concerns about Election Integrity in Orange County. James Peters, who gave an outstanding presentation at our April 21 meeting, delivered the stack of Notices which was about 1-1/2 foot high. James, who is CPOC Election Integrity Committee Chair, articulated the list of legal violations and our list of demands.

The Orange County Board of Supervisors did not respond in any fashion. We will keep you updated on this important issue. Thank you to all members and friends who joined CPOC today!

Agenda Item #46

Approve contract MA-031-22011497 with Neal Kelley for on-call consultant services, 5/1/22 - 4/30/23 ($80,000); and authorize County Procurement Officer or Deputized designee to exercise cost contingency increase not to exceed 10% under certain conditions and execute contract; and make related findings pursuant to Section 7522.56(f) of the Public Employees' Pension Reform Act 2013 - All Districts

Conservative Patriots Must Stop A.B. 2223—"Infanticide Bill"

California's proposed A.B. 2223, better known as "infanticide bill," is likely to weaken protections for newborn infants. Efforts to stop this bill must continue. At the same time, California legislatures seek to make the state the abortion center of the United States. From Cal Matters:

California abortion clinics are building new facilities closer to transit hubs and training more staff. A package of a dozen abortion rights bills moving through the Legislature could expand the number of providers, provide financial assistance to women traveling to California to terminate their pregnancies, and legally protect the doctors who treat them.

As new restrictions rapidly sweep the country in anticipation of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling this summer that may dramatically scale back or even end the constitutional right to abortion, California is preparing to step into the void — and welcome a possible surge of patients losing access in dozens of other states.

Patriots, we must stay on top of this issue and do everything possible to return California to a beckon of sanity. That starts with respecting life!
