PAULY'S PERSPECTIVE

A Message from Our President Deborah Pauly, J.D.

Where's
the Beef?

We've Got a Beef With RINOs Running the GOP Into the Ground!

I believe that our country was founded to be One Nation, Under God.

God is not a God of confusion, but of peace. Right now, in our country, there is confusion everywhere. It is purposefully being created. It is being created to destroy. Because it does not generate a sense of peace, we can know that it is not from God. Rather, it is from the enemies of God.

During CPOC's very first general membership meeting in January 2022, I posed a question of Gina Gleason, one of two guests invited for a moderated discussion. We sat in easy chairs on the stage and engaged in open conversation for the edification of those gathered. I asked, "How can the faith-based community work more effectively with the Republican Party to be more successful in local politics?"

Everyone knows Gina Gleason. She's the powerhouse behind Real Impact and a right hand political advisor to Pastor Jack Hibbs of Calvary Chapel Chino Hill. She paused before her thoughtful answer....

"First of all — God does not need the Republican Party."

I did not expect that answer.

However, it is certainly true. God does what He wants, how He wants and when He wants. Proverbs 21:1 tells us that "The king's heart is like channels of water in the hand of the Lord; He turns it wherever He wishes." I am certainly not qualified to be a pastor, but I have long believed that if we don't actively seek to invite God into the discussions taking place in the public square, we will continue to languish in a prison of our own making.

CPOC's March meeting was almost destroyed by the efforts of liberal operatives who want to disrupt the Education Reform agenda. Anyone with extensive experience in how the left operates to discredit and neutralize effective push back should recognize Liberal Tactic 101: Scream RACISM!

That is what happened.

No one should be influenced by hollow and unfounded claims that a patriot activist is a racist. Controversial and inaccurate posts of pure rubbish by a liberal troll, who goes by →

InMiniVanHell,” were designed to stir up teacher’s union operatives and pressure school board trustees NOT to educate and inform the concerned parents and grandparents who gathered in March. These progressive liberals know CPOC is organizing and will be effective against them.

I have been aware of this particular troll, InMiniVanHell, for some time, but I blocked her about 2-years ago because she was so annoying and obviously unhinged. I have since learned that her name is Brianna Walker. She resides in Mission Viejo. She has been responsible for Doxxing a great number of Patriots in Orange County, particularly in South County. She is a very effective liberal operative who has gotten people fired and hurt businesses, among other damaging ends.

Brianna Walker aka InMiniVanHell

We have learned these things through the network of CPOC members who connect the patriot community in Orange County. This time her crosshairs targeted Bob Walters, a long-time activist in education reform. Bob’s primary focus has been reintroducing the trades back into the public schools. The liberal purpose in making unfounded claims that Bob Walters is a racist was to cause confusion, fear and intimidation of the trustees and the attendees to prevent us from aligning against them and their unsavory agenda seeping into our public schools.

CPOC will not be intimidated by liberal union operatives! They have run roughshod over concerned parents in our community for too long. Brianna Walker will surely be a major player in the upcoming elections and in recall efforts of conservative school board trustees. She will be effective only if we allow her to silence us.

All the trustees, but one, pulled out of the March meeting at the 11th hour. Our lead organizer, the faithful and highly experienced Linda Cone, co-officer of CPOC’s Education Committee, was scrambling to salvage the program. The one trustee who spoke was the most sophisticated because he has weathered and witnessed many storms in nearly three decades of fighting destructive liberal policies.

Those in attendance learned how to be strong and bold in the face of liberal bullies. Those who did not attend where denied the opportunity to be mentored by more mature, experienced activists who have walked this walk before, gone before them, and survived the onslaught. In the art of war, it is important to “know thy enemy.”

Together, we should support those trustees who are the “tip of the sword” on our behalf. It is the responsibility of a local elected official to be OUR first line of defense. It is our civic duty to stand arm-in-arm with them as they fight for shared values.

To be part of this important citizen army, you cannot cower in the face of threats, fear and intimidation. Wars are not won that way. All that happens, is you expose your soft underbelly; the enemy knows where to strike next time. It’s misguided to think they will play nicely if you roll over and succumb to their threats.

I want to call your attention to one other individual. She is another prolific and deranged liberal operative. Her name is Michelle Weisenberg. She attends nearly every OUSD Board meeting and attacks conservatives on that board. In particular, she has attacked a board member for social media posts about prayer vigils at the OUSD HQ flag poll.

social media page in 2018 when “pussy rallies” were taking place around the country. Michelle took her two young children to these rallies: daughter wearing penis antenna on her head and son being made to hold a giant, blow up penis with a cartoon face. (NOTE: We have blocked a portion of their faces, even though their own mother did not have the decency to protect her children from future embarrassment.)

In a follow-up picture Michelle is kissing the giant penis. It’s shocking, but that’s not the main point. The main point is to demonstrate visually for you the type of individual who is seeking to influence public education in our communities. She had no problem posting these photos on her social media page for the entire world to see. Yet, she has a problem with a post concerning prayer seeking God’s intervention to stop hideous abuse of children.

Dr. Ken Williams, 3rd District Trustee, Orange County Board of Education, shares a video about the secret social transitioning of students at the Newport Mesa Unified School District (NMUSD). This 16.5 minute video is very concerning and will be shown at the board’s meeting, Wednesday, April 12, 2023. However, you may download it here. I encourage you to watch it and share this column with others.

Also, be sure to read a personal account (page 7), reported anonymously by a CPOC member, who was able to understand what had happened to her daughter in an OUSD school after attending the March meeting. Yes, this is happening right here in Orange County.

If you missed the March meeting, you missed an amazing meeting.

You do NOT want to miss the April meeting. We’re serving beefy burgers because we HAVE A BEEF WITH THE GOP. They don’t listen to the grassroots patriots and they have no fight in them. In fact, they often join forces with the liberals to discredit conservative patriots who are demanding more from the Republican Party. We want new, responsive leadership. They just keep dishing up the same old RINO retreats!

Back by popular demand! Attend the CPOC roundtable workshop with your Assembly District allies! We will employ leadership from the bottom up, instead of dictating from the top down. New shoots will spring forth at the April meeting. With sunlight and proper care, new leaders will bear fruit.

What Michelle Weisenberg believes is appropriate for her children, may not align with the sensibilities of most parents.

Michelle Weisenberg’s personal social media posts.

See you there!

The History of the American Flag

by Betts Rivét, Americanism

What if I were to tell you that there is no historical fact that Betsy Ross made the first American flag? The Betsy Ross story did not surface until 34 years after her death when her only surviving grandson, William Canby, presented a paper he wrote to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. The paper included stories he had heard when he was 11 years old after his grandmother died. His paper stated that "In 1776, George Washington visited Betsy's Tailor Shop along with a congressional committee comprised of himself, Robert Morris and Col. George Ross (a relative of Betsy's late husband). The committee appointed Betsy the task of sewing a flag based on a rough drawing by Col. Ross. She offered various suggestions which were making the flag more symmetrical and using the five pointed star instead of six." The story goes that when the flag was completed it was flown at the peak of one of their vessels after which Congress unanimously approved it.

Of course, when the story was made public at the close of the Civil War America embraced the patriotic tale. The Betsy Ross story was published in books, magazines and newspapers plus countless children's books depict the tale.

The main reasons historians and flag experts do not believe the Betsy Ross story is because of the lack of historical evidence and documentation.

- ◆ No records show that Continental Congress had a committee to design a national flag in 1776
- ◆ George Washington was not a member of Continental Congress but rather the commander and chief of the Continental Army so it was unlikely he would have headed the congressional committee.
- ◆ Although Betsy Ross kept detailed records in her shop, no invoice or document was found linking her to this transaction.
- ◆ There is no record that Betsy Ross and George Washington even knew each other or that he was even in her shop.
- ◆ In letters and diaries neither George Washington, Col. Ross or Robert Morris mentioned anything about a national flag in 1776.
- ◆ The flag Resolution of 1777 was first documented as a discussion or debate about a national flag.

The question 'Who made the first American Flag?' can only be given speculative answers. There were 17 flag making stores in Philadelphia. Margaret Manny is thought to have made the first Continental Colors flag but no evidence to suggest she also made the Stars and Stripes. Any flag maker in that city could have sewn the first American flag. As for the design, a vast majority of historians believe that Francis Hopkinson is the most likely candidate. Why? He was a Renaissance man of that era, an artist, a writer, and inventor. He designed the Great Seal of the United States (blue shield with 13 red and white stripes with 13 six pointed stars above the shield). This was altered somewhat by a committee and was later approved.

To add to the mystery surrounding the first American flag, experts can only guess the reason Congress chose stripes, stars and red, white and blue for our flag. Yes, they were influenced by the unofficial American flag, the Continental Colors which was influenced by England's Union Jack. As reported by Congress in those days on the official American flag "white signifies purity and high ideals, red hardiness and courage and blue for vigilance and justice."

Even though we may not know all of the people who created our beloved flag, we do know that it signifies the qualities of the human spirit we Americans cherish. It has influenced great patriotism and has taken on meaning unmatched by any other country's national emblem.

CPOC March Meeting and the Dissention of California's Educational System: A Personal Epiphany

By Anonymous

I am one of “those” parents who witnessed their child become transgender. Although there is much to say about how this event impacted my family, what I want to focus on in this article is my discovery of the role in which the California Department of Education (CDE) and the teacher’s union played in influencing transgender lifestyles. It was during the CPOC March meeting, when all the pieces seemed to fit together to provide the explanation I was looking for.

Before I begin explaining my belief, let me share that I am not a stranger to the transgender movement. Nearly 30-years ago while living in the Bible-belt state of Oklahoma, I witnessed a close friend, who was a 6’5” male, go through the process of transitioning into a woman. I actually supported my friend and was my friend’s cheerleader. They say God prepares you for everything.

When I compared what had happened to my friend with my child’s experience, the two seemed to be different. My friend had to deal with committing to a very physically, mentally and socially challenging decision of his transition in a strict society, which was a very personal journey. For my child, who was raised in liberal California, the journey was a part of a greater social movement with a hint of being fashionably cool. What was once a deep search for self to the transgender, was now a corporate movement involving minors who through various supports from school, media and our California laws were transitioning at an alarming rate. I would assert that in many cases this was done without the knowledge of the parent. My views are supported by professionals familiar with gender dysphoria who were interviewed in the movie directed by Justin Folk called, What is a Woman?<sup>1</sup> and the book by Abigail Shrier titled, Irreversible Damage: The Transgender Craze Seducing Our Daughters.<sup>2,3</sup>

"It was during the CPOC March meeting, when all the pieces seemed to fit together to provide the explanation I was looking for."

Both of the above references describe a notable shift in the role of educators and pediatric professionals regarding gender dysphoria. They had changed from traditionally taking no opinion on the subject, which allowed the minor/individual to dwell on deep personal root causes that directed the person to the appropriate decision. In most cases, the individuals grew out of the transgender state and accepted their biological identity.<sup>1-3</sup> This is what happened to my friend after 10-years of transitioning.

Today, the “popular” approach has educators and pediatric professionals blindly affirming the minor’s identity of choice.<sup>1-3</sup> The recent movie directed by Taylor Reece called, Dead Name, includes a sorrowful account from a mother who unwillingly is attempting to comply based on professional advice.<sup>4</sup> This methodology was implemented to prevent suicidal tendencies, which professionals claim arise with gender dysphoria.<sup>1-3</sup> Thinking back, I do recall my friend mentioning being on suicide watch for a year. He shared that it was a process which he had to undergo prior to his doctor authorizing a transition operation. What I could not understand is how could teachers, especially those who are parents, overwhelmingly align with this approach?

Let’s return to the subject of the CPOC March 2023 meeting focusing on local education. Meeting topics included discussions held at the 2021 CA state teacher union convention regarding Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS).<sup>5</sup> MTSS is an educational strategy outlined by the CDE that implements societal changes through whole child supports, which include direction for academics, behavior and social success. MTSS draws from two programs called Response to Instruction and Intervention (RTI2) and Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS). The two programs are traditionally utilized for students with behavioral and/or learning disabilities—with very good results. What makes MTSS different, is that this “whole approach” is now applied to the entire California student body, as if there were an issue with the larger population of youth that needed to be adjusted or corrected.<sup>5</sup> This strategy is achieved by embedding specific ideologies into the teaching methods utilized by educators, into school libraries, into language arts text, history books, and math books.<sup>5-7</sup> Guidance for these strategies include references to Black Lives Matter, Trevor Space and gender diversity approaches geared towards preschoolers—the bones of CRT and gender-confusion all done to promote diversity and social equity.<sup>6-7</sup> The role of the CA teachers’ union was to maintain their well-known bullish character, as described in Rebecca Friedrich’s book Standing Up to Goliath, in order to ensure compliance from the teachers or else.<sup>8</sup>

Infiltration into our local schools seems successful. In Jan 2023, the Orange Unified School District fired the Superintendent who managed the district while my child was attending school.<sup>9</sup> Among the complaints about the fired superintendent was her lack of response to a year-old complaint regarding a sexually explicit book that was placed in an elementary school library.<sup>10</sup> I now knew how my child was influenced by the school environment.

Hello patriots! The March 14 BOS meeting went as usual. CPOC members shared their concerns about specific issues and as usual the BOS ignored us, voting as they would have whether we were there or not. At least our concerns are on the record.

Item 17:

The cumulative total given to Mental Health Association of Orange County is $2 Million. However, when we conducted a Google search, no address populated for "Mental Health Association of Orange County." The BOS rebuttal was that they vet each company they give money to. However, CPOC countered with Cheryl Frink sending the BOS a picture of her Google search showing no such entity exists in Orange County.

Item 21:

BOS approved $4 million to Yellow Cab for non-emergency transportation for people with drug addictions or mental illness. A CPOC member reminded the BOS that Orange County has a bus system.

Item 22

The BOS approved $785,000 to Resource Oversight & Guidance Service. Basically, the BOS wants a third-party to pay the bills for people with mental illness. From what we were told, the official bill payer may take a salary out of the benefits. CPOC wants to know why taxpayers are paying nearly $1 million for this service. (We would also like to also know how we can get someone to pay OUR bills!)

Important:

BOS funds non-profits: however, in most cases these are not non-profit organizations that the majority of CPOC members would ever support. For instance, NONE of the monies goes to Christian organizations. None. Zilch. Nada. All the funded organizations are secular. In all my research, I have yet to see the names "God" or "Christ" related to any non-profits that the BOS funds.

Moreover, unlike most non-profits that work hard at fundraising, the many non-profits financially supported by the BOS rarely fundraise. When they do, donations are low amounts. Why should they bother to fundraise when they can go to the Orange County Board of Supervisors, put out their hand and get taxpayer money? That is not the American way of running a non-profit organization!

Cheryl Frink and Joette Koelsch gave super speeches at the March 14 meeting! It is always great to hear what everyone uncovers about items on the BOS agenda!

Please join us at future BOS meetings. Our voices needs to be heard. God Bless everyone!

HEAVENLY FATHER,

We are so grateful we can pray to YOU, anytime and anywhere.

We acknowledge YOU are here with us this evening. We join the Psalmist of the Scriptures when he says:

Teach me Your way, O Lord. Teach me good judgement and knowledge. Teach me to do Your will.

The Lord promises HE will instruct and teach us.

We desperately need YOUR instruction as we face so many challenges regarding the government-run education system. Grant courage and success to those who are shining a light on the darkness of that system that plagues our Schools.

We pray concerned parents will wisely decide what to do about their children's education. That they will be brave to stand up against what they know is wrong. Especially bless those teachers and staff that strive to honor YOU as they teach and care for children. AMEN

Why California Republicans Keep Failing

Conservative Patriots are fighting two groups:

- Marxist-leaning Democrats
- RINO Republicans

Two excerpts from San Clemente Area Republican Women President Susan St. Peters March 2023 presidential message "In the Midst of a Civil War." President St. Peters discusses the OCGOP's early endorsements (14 months BEFORE the 2024 primary)!

OCGOP Chair "Feckless Fred" Whitaker at the March 2023 CAGOP seen nominating for re-election another failure: Chair Jessica Patterson.

Shawn Steel, former CAGOP Chair and husband of Rep. Michelle Steel (CA-45), also nominated the dreadful and failing Jessica Patterson to be re-elected.

As we head into the 2024 election, the CAGOP and OCGOP do NOT represent most Conservative Patriots.

The fact that party leadership is not listening to the cries of its base grieves my soul. It's hard to preach "unity" when you feel like all those in power are concerned with is absorbing your time, energy, and money for pre-selected candidates, some of whom definitely merit the RINO (Republican in Name Only) label. We need only look at their voting records.

Yes, at some point, Republicans need to unify behind strong candidates who represent our true values and who can win. But this early endorsement may block otherwise stronger, better candidates from coming forward. Leadership might argue that since these incumbents were elected, they are the party's choices. If we had election integrity in California, people might believe that. Our party's leadership claims that "no voter fraud occurred in Orange County," but most ordinary conservatives don't buy that claim. The only conclusion I can draw from all that's transpired is that we "Americanists" must stand together to preserve America. I don't want to see our party destroyed and greatly hope it can be restored and transformed from within. But if I have to choose, and I hope I don't, I'd choose to save my country rather than my party.

And that's why Democrats keep winning!

GUESS WHAT!

Jessica Patterson was re-elected to another failing term!

The CAGOP is a lot of things, but conservative is NOT one of them. Yet, they send out mailings showing the sender is "CA Conservatives."

CAGOP wants money, money, and more money!

The CAGOP and OCGOP aren't fooling anyone! These are RINO establishments that much of the Republican base wants replaced with REAL America First Conservative Patriots!

Republicans insist we should have one day voting in person with paper ballots. So why did CAGOP allow ballot harvesting with machines at its 2023 convention?

The CAGOP represents UniParty politics!

CAGOP fails Conservatives!

Disaster imminent?

February 28, 2023

, we reached out with a dire warning last week – a Senate seat has now become wide open here in California, giving us a golden opportunity to fight for more conservative leadership. But that was only if we continued to meet our goals... and with February being a shorter month, we're in danger of falling BEHIND right now! Conservatives only have till TONIGHT to raise the remaining $1,247! So can we count on you to help by rushing in even just $5 to compete in this race and meet our goal tonight?

Why Orange County Republicans Keep Failing

Depending on who runs on the Democrat side in the 40th Congressional District, Rep. Young Kim should still be able to continue her RINO friendships with Democrats. (Pictured: Kim in pink happily standing with Nancy Pelosi as Joe Biden signs whatever his handlers put in front of him.) According to the University of Virginia Center for Politics, Kim is in a “likely Republican” district.

It's another story in the 45th Congressional District where the Center for Politics says Rep. Michelle Steel's seat “leans Republican.” The problem for Steel is that in a district that is 38% Democrat, 32% Republican and 25% NPP, she needs every Republican and NPP vote (as many NPPers are fed-up Republicans). Democrat Garden Grove City Council Member Kim Bernice Nguyen announced she is running against Steel and is already pouncing with regular news releases. With Steel seen by many in an unflattering RINO light, her campaign might find it difficult to generate enthusiasm beyond the frequently unsaid but implied GOP mantra of: “The Republican candidate might be a RINO but the Democrat is much worse.” ← Posts celebrating the connection between Rep. Steel and the RINO CAGOP might keep more Republicans home on Election Day and help to elect Democrat Nguyen.

Team Steel representing at CAGOP convention. Needless to say our team here in CA-45 showed up and showed out!

Big congrats to Chairwoman Patterson on her re election as well as a massive shoutout to CRP staff. We are beyond blessed to have the best political, data, and strategy team in the nation here in CA.

With Democrat Senator Dianne Feinstein retiring, it will be an open seat in the 47th Congressional District. What a great opportunity for the OCGOP to bring in a fresh face and voice to the landscape. Instead, they bring in a retread! As CPOC President Deborah Pauly wrote in the March Conservative Chronicle:

Feckless Fred (Whitaker, OCGOP Chair) used that as an opportunity to fete the “early endorsement” of Scott Baugh for California's 47th Congressional District. This will be Baugh's third attempt at a Congressional seat.

First, Baugh ran against a seated incumbent Republican in good standing, weakening the incumbent and draining his campaign coffers. That's how Orange County ended up with Democrat Harley Rouda as a Congressman representing Orange County in 2019. More recently, Baugh lost to Katie Porter for a Congressional seat. Even the coattails of the Fabulous Four (a conservative slate that sailed to victory in the recent Huntington Beach city council contest) couldn't drag Baugh over the finish line. That's a lot of weight to drag.

Anyone who has been paying attention knows what kind of damage Scott Baugh did to the Republican Party of Orange County when he was chairman. The party is on life-support, and he deserves a lot of credit for that status. He also pushed Republicans to register to vote by mail during his tenure. That was a precursor to The OC going to near exclusive mail ballot voting, a set-up to the current corruption of our election system. He did that, but then integrity has never been one of Baugh's strong suits.

Baugh's press release on the early endorsement is total rubbish. The header proclaims, “The Republican Party of Orange County Makes Rare Early Endorsement of Scott Baugh.” Rare? It happens all the time.

If you are tired of RINO Orange County politics as usual, join CPOC!

Eight Startling and Uncomfortable Ways the Democrat Party Emulates the Nazi Party

By Steve McCann

Published on American Thinker, 3/21/23

(images added by CPOC to better show history & current events)

The Democrat party has been a stain on the nation since its founding in 1828 by a virulently racist president, Andrew Jackson. It was the party of slavery and the Confederacy, it initiated racial segregation by legislating and brutally enforcing Jim Crow laws. It unabashedly aligned with and supported the Ku Klux Klan for over nine decades, thus promoting antisemitism, religious persecution and xenophobia. Over the past 60 years, the Party has embraced and promulgated cultural Marxism which espouses the transformation of traditional American culture and society. The Party has succeeded in undermining the family structure and religious freedom as well as mainstreaming abortions up to the point of birth and what was once considered deviancy.

The Democrat party's two most exalted figureheads are the fervently racist Woodrow Wilson who set the Party on the path of undermining the Constitution in order to remold the United States into a "modern administrative state" (i.e., socialist) and Franklin Roosevelt who was enamored with and utilized Fascist principles in his "New Deal" thus permanently embedding them in the Party's psyche.

An unemotional examination of the underlying philosophies and the tactics the Nazi Party used to gain and maintain power reveals not just the common impulse to weaponize the judiciary to eradicate one's political opponents (e.g., Donald Trump) but numerous other similarities between the Nazis and the Democrat party that cannot be ignored. Here are eight uncomfortable dimensions of that resemblance.

First, racial and ethnic division was a central component of Nazi political strategy and philosophy. The Nazi Party was the most racially obsessed political party in human history. Today's Democrat party is second only to the Nazi Party in their racial obsession. Every piece of legislation, every accusation against their opponents, every aspect of American society, even weather and climate are framed in imaginary racism.

The Nazi Party's obsession focused on their perverted belief in the inferiority and superiority of the races or ethnicities. This opened the door for blaming a specific ethnic group for all the problems facing their country. The Democrat party is claiming the root cause of virtually all problems facing this nation is "systemic racism" as theoretically instigated by one particular race.

"THE BIGGER
THE LIE,
THE MORE IT
WILL BE BELIEVED."

- PAUL JOSEPH GOEBBELS

The Nazis used "fake news," as does the Democrat party, in order to slice and dice the populace into identity groups and then promulgate grievance-riddled policies aimed at these manufactured factions in order to foment anger at a previously isolated group. Which for the Nazis were the Jews; and for the Democrat party, white heterosexual Christians and Jews. (Pictured: Josef Goebbels, Nazi Minister of Propaganda.)

Second, In the 1920s and early 1930s, the Nazi Party relied on street riots, property damage and gratuitous violence utilizing their militant cadre, the Sturmabteilung (SA), to project power through intimidation while blaming others for the violence. Their ability to terrorize the citizenry and national political leadership played a major role in their ascendance to power as they promised peace and impartial justice if elected. Almost immediately upon assuming the reins of government, they transformed the judicial system into a vehicle of oppression directed their political foes and the Jews while their allies were not prosecuted for any criminal activity.

The Democrat party revealed in the summer of 2020 that they, too, have the wherewithal and inclination to acquiesce to street riots, property damage and gratuitous violence utilizing their militant cadre, Antifa and Black Lives Matter, to project power through intimidation while blaming white supremacy and police brutality for the violence. In the presidential campaign of 2020, the Democrat party implicitly promised peace and impartial justice if elected. Almost immediately upon assuming the reins of government, they transformed the Justice Department into a vehicle of oppression directed at their political foes, Donald Trump and all Constitutional conservatives, while their allies were either not prosecuted or treated extraordinarily leniently. (Pictured: Democrat-supported Antifa and Black Lives Matters rioting and burning the American flag in 2020.)

Third, in January 1933, Hitler was appointed Chancellor of Germany. Within four weeks a mysterious, and in all likelihood staged, fire broke out in the Reichstag (Congress) Building which the Nazis blamed on Communist agitators as their opening salvo in a violent coup. Using this pretext, the Nazis rushed to arrest and harshly prosecute selected elements of their political adversaries, thus intimidating the balance. They also forced through the Reichstag the Enabling Act of 1933 in March of the same year. This law embedded the Nazis as the sole dominant political party and ensured that only the Nazis could win future elections. (Pictured: Peaceful Trump supporters at the Capitol on Jan. 6.)

The Democrat party seized upon in all likelihood a setup disturbance at the Capitol on January 6, 2021 to proclaim that it was an “armed insurrection” and the opening salvo in a violent coup attempt by Trump, his supporters and white supremacists. Using this pretext, the Democrats rushed to arrest and harshly prosecute those in attendance in order to intimidate their political enemies. In the footsteps of the Nazi Party, the Democrats immediately pushed to pass the For The People Act, which would have overturned virtually all existing voter laws, embedded the Democrats as the sole dominant political party and ensured that only the Democrats could win future elections. (Pictured: Even leftist CNN knows that Democrat-embraced Louis Farrakhan is anti-Semitic.)

Fourth, antisemitism was a foundational principle of Nazism. Antisemitism, through the Democrats’ nine-decade alliance with the Ku Klux Klan, has long been foundational in the Democrat party. Today, many elected Democrats openly denigrate the state of Israel, glorify the Palestinian terrorists, and claim that Jews are disloyal. Thus, fomenting an exponential increase in anti-Jewish attacks in America’s major cities.

Meanwhile, virtually the entire Democrat hierarchy bows at the feet of America’s most virulent antisemite, Louis Farrakhan, who has referred to Judaism as the “religion of Satan” and Adolf Hitler as “a very great man.” This obeisance to Farrakhan and his ilk is concordant with the mindless acceptance of unbridled antisemitism by the hierarchy of the Nazi Party in the mid-to-late 1920’s. (Pictured: Former New York city council member Andrew Stein is one of the few Democrats who calls out the Democrat Party’s racism.)

Fifth, the Nazi Party was fixated on censorship and eliminating any cultural institution, publication or speech that did not fully support them. Further, per socialist dogma, they were determined to destroy the family structure, replacing it with the state. The Nazis were notorious for book-burning rituals to intimidate and send the message that they would shut down anyone and anything that did not align with their ideology. Once in control of the national levers of powers, they did so with impunity particularly in the education sector whose revised primary purpose was to brainwash the youth. The Democrat Party is figuratively burning books as it uses social media mobs as the vehicle to send the message that they will shut down anyone or anything that does not align with their ideology. Further, they, in league with the teachers' unions, are hellbent on programming America's youth and destroying the family structure replacing it with the state. (Nazi book burning in 1933.)

Sixth, the Nazis perfected the art of indoctrinating the citizenry through propaganda and "fake news." Joseph Goebbels, Nazi Minister of Propaganda, is credited with saying: "If you tell a lie big enough and keep repeating it, people will eventually come to believe it."

This strategy has been and continues to be used to great success by the Democrat party and their fellow travelers in the so-called mainstream media. Whether it is the Russian collusion hoax, the so-called armed insurrection on January 6, 2021, climate change as an existential threat to mankind, suppression of voting rights, white supremacy running rampant, the necessity of lockdowns for the Covid pandemic or a myriad of other fabrications, the Party hierarchy lies with impunity as a means to their ends... as did the Nazis. (Pictured: One of several Nazi newspapers circa 1933.)

Seventh, the Nazis, true to socialist ideology, preyed on class envy to stoke tensions and resentment as they blamed the Jews and wealthy capitalists for their nation's economic woes. The Democrat party hierarchy began in 2009 blaming so-called "white supremacy" together with their century-old tactic of blaming wealthy capitalists for income and economic inequality in order to foment class envy and resentment.

But the similarity does not end there. In an extraordinary juxtaposition, the Nazis were able to vilify the wealthy and the industrialists while the subjects of their vitriol financed the Nazi Party. Hitler assured the German corporate titans that, despite their rhetoric, the Nazis would leave them alone and award them lucrative contracts if they sustained the Party through massive financial support. (American Nazis rally at Madison Square Gardens in New York City; February 1939.)

The Democrat Party has established a similar rapport with the corporate establishment, in particular the finance and tech sectors. In the belief that they will be left alone by the Democrat party, the American corporate elites have financed the party out to destroy capitalism.

Eighth, Hitler, after serving in World War I, was an avowed communist who eventually joined the National Socialist Party, later renamed the National Socialist Workers (NAZI) Party. He did so because it was larger and also espoused Marxism/socialism. Influenced by Mussolini and his Fascist Party, in the 1920s the National Socialist Party adopted extreme nationalism and government-controlled capitalism as a part of their foundational Marxist/socialist underpinning. While flirting with it for a number of decades, in the latter half of the Twentieth Century the Democrat party began to fully embrace an American version of the Marxism/socialism that underpinned the NAZI Party. Mark Levin in his seminal work American Marxism, lays out in detail this metamorphosis. For all intents and purposes, the Democrat party could easily be renamed: The National Marxist/Socialist Party. (Pictured: MSNBC reporter insisting a 2020 Black Lives Matter riot was peaceful.)

The greatest threat to the survival of United States as founded is not offshore but within its borders: the Democrat party.

How to Buy More Made in USA Products

By Michelle Nash-Hoff

SAVING US MANUFACTURING—March 22, 2023

More than 70% (72%) of American consumers prefer American-made products and nearly half (48%) say they'd be willing to pay around 10-20% more. An exclusive poll about buy-American shopping preferences from Retail Brew and The Harris Poll was conducted among a nationally representative sample of 1,986 US adults from July 22-24, 2022.

Overwhelmingly, Americans want to know where their products are made, and they can do so at retail stores by looking for a "Made in USA" label when they shop in person. However, when they shop online, there is no country of origin information provided in the description of a product by the top online e-commerce companies, Amazon, eBay, and Etsy.

In 2020, The COOL Online Act (S. 3707) was introduced by Senator Tammy Baldwin to require a prominent country-of-origin description for all products sold online as well as clear disclosure of the country in which the seller of the product is located. However, big retailers including Amazon want to hide where their products are coming from and lobbied to prevent this bill from being voted on by the Senate. The text of this bill was added as an amendment to the Endless Frontier Act (S. 1260), which passed the Senate, but was not voted on by the House. A similar bill is planned to be introduced this year.

In addition, all of the e-commerce companies take advantage of the "De Minimis" rule, created by Congress as Section 321 to the Tariff Act of 1930. "De Minimis" is Latin for "too trivial or minor to merit consideration." Its purpose was "to avoid expense and inconvenience to the Government disproportionate to the amount of revenue that would otherwise be collected."

A White Paper by the Coalition for a Prosperous America (CPA) states, "The 1938 Congress set low-dollar thresholds for three different importation scenarios, assigning a $5 threshold for bona fide gifts and personal effects travelers brought with them, and a $1 de minimis for any other situation...Congress raised our de minimis threshold to a whopping $800 in 2015. China's is 50 yuan, which is less than $8. Goods eligible for de minimis treatment enter the U.S. free of duties and taxes...Express consignment companies like FedEx and UPS and e-commerce sites like Amazon and eBay are the primary actors lobbying to keep de minimis as a giant open-border backdoor.

"U.S. Customs & Border Protection (CBP) itself acknowledges that raising the de minimis threshold changed the very nature of international trade." Under the traditional paradigm, businesses would contract foreign manufacturers, entering into supply contracts, importing particular products by the container-load, and then distribute products to domestic retailers. "Large shipments would be consigned to a single purchaser, and typically consist of the same or similar goods. Under the new paradigm, that same shipping container has individual packages destined for hundreds of individual customers who are fulfilling the legal role of "importer..."

"For regular imports, the law requires importers to provide Customs & Border Protection (CBP) an advance manifest of the incoming cargo describing it. But de minimis shipments, including millions of e-commerce packages, typically arrive with no advance information."

CPA recommends that Congress "fix this by lowering the threshold back to $9 ($5, but adjusted for inflation)."

One company is leading the effort to adopt a private sector solution. Don Buckner Sr., recently contacted me about the new online marketplace he is developing to provide consumers with easy access to domestic manufactured products. MadeInUSA.com. Customers will be able to identify and search by three sourcing categories: Made in USA, Made in USA with US & Global Materials, and Assembled in the USA.

MADE IN

They may also search by a Business Certification such as Veteran, Women, Minority, GSA Holder, or Small Business. This will increase a company's visibility, allowing access to opportunities they might not otherwise have. Vendors must certify that products displayed on the site are produced in compliance with the Federal Trade Commission Made in USA claim. Strict adherence is required for all vendors. MadeInUSA is now registering vendors and products at <https://madeinusa.com/vendor>. The website is scheduled to go live in late 2023.

I asked what will make his website different from other websites offering Made in USA products, and Don said, "MadeInUSA.com is an Enterprise level eCommerce marketplace specifically designed to highlight and promote vendors to domestically produced products. MadeInUSA.com is built using the latest technology and is the most comprehensive, secure, online resource for consumers and corporate buyers As the premier and trusted online marketplace for products made in the USA, the site offers a doorway between U.S. manufacturers and the world."

Customers will be able to identify and search vendors by one of three categories: Made in USA, Made in USA with US & Global Materials, and Assembled in the USA. They may also search for vendors by a Business Certification such as Veteran, Women, Minority, GSA Holder, or Small Business. This will increase a company's visibility, allowing access to opportunities they might not otherwise have.

Don explained, "The MadeInUSA.com eCommerce platform is based on a drop ship model and will collect and pay all sales tax and shipping costs. All the manufacturers must do is build it and box it."

The website is now open for vendor applications to offer products directly to consumers. Vendors may list products for free but must certify that products displayed on the site are produced in compliance with the FTC Made in USA claim. Strict adherence is required for all vendors. Manufacturers and vendors can register by visiting <https://madeinusa.com/vendor> to submit an application.

U.S. consumers prefer to buy domestic products. Today, it is hard for consumers to do that and easy for imports to by-pass customs duties. Congress has legislators working to fix labeling and import duties. I applaud the focus of Don Buckner to reconnect U.S. manufacturers to the U.S. consumers and to create American jobs through increased demand for USA branded products.

Industry Reimagined 2030 is working with national associations and the private sector to increase consumer purchases of U.S. goods. We share the same commitment that buying USA-made products isn't just patriotic, it's an investment into our communities, our labor force, and our economy. We aim to increase U.S. purchases by $500 billion that will result in 2 million jobs by 2030.

Carl Marx said that communism would ensure that children would be educated by the state and not by their parents. He wrote in the Manifesto, would “rescue education from the influence of the ruling class. Alexandra Kollontai, the Soviet’s first People’s Commissar for Welfare, put it succinctly when she wrote: the old family, narrow and petty, where the parents quarrel and are only interested in their own offspring, is not capable of educating the ‘new person’. Soviet schools even encouraged students to snitch on their parents. They quickly realized that the way to completely change society was to destroy the most important civil society institution, the family.” (“Socialism and Family | The Heritage Foundation”) Its culture and education commissar, George Lukacs, therefore instituted a system to instruct young children into sexual perversions. Lukacs’s special lectures were organized in schools and literature printed and distributed to ‘instruct’ children about free love, the nature of sexual intercourse, the archaic nature of bour-geois family codes, the outdatedness of monogamy, and the irrelevance of religion, which deprives man of all pleasure. Children urged thus to reject and deride paternal authority and the authority of the church, and to ignore precepts of morality.”

CPOC members Rudy Melendez and Evelyn Nunez were delegates at the CAGOP convention. They conducted a poll during the event and it was reported in Cal Matters. Here is an excerpt from “Trump is Still the Favorite for California GOP Delegates” by Alexei Koseff.

Take the grassroots straw poll that Orange County delegate Evelyn Nunez Jones and Los Angeles County delegate Rudy Melendez were organizing at the convention by handing out business cards with a QR code link to an online survey. Early results, with about 150 participants, showed Trump running away with three-quarters of the vote, they said, ahead of a field including DeSantis, former United Nations Ambassador Nikki Haley (who is running for president) and former Congress Member Liz Cheney (who has not announced a campaign).

Ford & Tesla - No More AM Radio

Why are Ford and Tesla eliminating AM radios in their electric vehicles? To understand what that means to Conservative talk radio, you need to know the history of AM radio.

It started with the 1934 Communications Act that granted radio licenses to AM stations that “served the public interest.” It meant that BOTH sides of an issue had to be shared, which is why there was mostly news, music, and religion, but not programs that distinctly leaned liberal or conservative.

Those of a certain age will recall listening to their favorite music that came through AM radio air-waves often with a lot of static. It was a big technological advancement in the 1960s, when radio stations broadcasting music switched to FM with its superior sound.

The switch to FM meant that many AM radio stations now had a lot of empty programming. They filled the time by creating talk radio. The way they got around the Federal Communications Commission’s (FCC) Fairness Doctrine was with call-in radio that allowed people with different views to call the show and share their opinion.

Under Republican President Ronald Reagan, the fairness doctrine was eliminated in 1985 because it took away the right to free speech. That opened the door for talk radio that catered to a specific audience. In 1988, Rush Limbaugh started his famous talk radio program that lasted until his death in 2021. At the height of the program’s success, the show aired in 650+ radio stations nationwide. There are many conservative talk radio stars that followed Rush and became icons on the AM dial.

Interestingly, Conservative talk radio got a big boost with the 1996 Telecommunications Act that was promoted by Democrat President Bill Clinton. The Act eliminated how many radio stations any one company could own.

Why AM remains important

It’s important that cars continue to have AM radio and it’s not just for talk radio. In times of emergency, AM radio is how federal, state, and local officials communicate with the public and provide safety alerts. (For example, during the recent California blizzards where residents were stranded in mountain communities without food, water or medicine, alerts could have gone out such as: “During this historic blizzard Governor Gavin “Hair Gel” Newsom is vacationing in warm Mexico and can’t be bothered with sick or dying constituents.”)

In all seriousness, everyone should have at least one battery operated radio at home in case there is an emergency.

Putting aside emergency situations, AM radio is Conservative talk radio.

So, it makes us wonder why some electric vehicle manufacturers such as Ford and Tesla are not installing the AM radio in their cars. They claim that the AM frequencies cause buzzing and signal fading.

Or is this a way to stop Conservative talk radio? If this sounds like a loony conspiracy theory, just remember that in the last few years, almost all conspiracy theories once labeled “loony” or “misinformation” have come true.
